Funds from this award will cover or assist with the attendance expenses for three categories of students and post-docs from domestic US institutions:

- Senior undergraduate or junior graduate students who are not yet at the stage to have their own papers at the conference, however, they have demonstrated a strong academic background (GPA > 3.5) and have two strong letters of recommendation

- Senior graduate students who have accepted papers at the conference with strong reviewer scores and a strong letter of recommendation from their advisor

- Post-doctoral fellows who have accepted papers at the conference with strong reviewer scores, but do not have any other source of funding to support their travel or registration
